Teacher's Design Wins Place in Global Competition

A design by Ichabod Crane High School Art Teacher, Gayle Abrams, was among the winners of Amplifyer's "#Vaccinated," a grassroots global COVID-19 awareness campaign to combat vaccine disinformation.

Ms. Abrams and other artists responded to Amplifier's Global Open Call for Art to "create symbols that build trust in the safety and efficacy of vaccines, advocate for vaccine equity, and help combat vaccine disinformation."

You can download Ms. Abrams' artwork and see some of the other winning artwork on the #Vaccinated campaign homepage here.

ICC Recognizing Mental Health Awareness in May

The District is recognizing Children's Mental Health Awareness Week, May 3 through 7. We encourage staff and students to wear the color green to represent growth and new life on May 4th and 7th to raise awareness and promote good mental health practices.

Seniors Spotlight

For the remainder of the year we will be updating a feature on our website dedicated to showcasing members of ICCS Senior Class of 2021.

To make a submission, visit "Senior Spotlights" for a submission form and directions.

Dolge makes Rider History

The Ichabod Crane Varsity Football team celebrated a historic moment when it turned to IC women's soccer player Abby Dolge to be its place-kicker this season.

Dolge became the first girl at Ichabod Crane to participate in varsity football, and she kicked two extra points in the March 27th victory over Taconic Hills.
