Amilia Dalaudiere-Baoud

The character trait for May's Rider of the Month is friendship and there wasn't a second's hesitation for my choice: Amilia Dalaudiere-Baoud. Now then, what is a true friend? A true friend is someone that is honest and empathic. A true friend is kind and reliable-not phony. A real friend is caring and is open. In all healthy relationships, a friend is honest with you when it matters most. Amilia is that genuine, honest-to-goodness friend-selfless to the core. This young lady always makes sure to include others and does so with regard and compassion. She will even set aside her own work to lend a helping hand, not only to those around her, but to the adults as well. She is superfriendly, outgoing and is always encouraging. Miss Amilia Dalaudiere-Baoud is a role model to her peers and I congratulate her for being the final Rider of the Month for this school year.

Her friendship, kindness, and generosity of spirit extend to classmates and adults alike. Annabelle is perceptive and understanding of her friends' needs, whether it is a kind word or helping hand. She is a very special young lady and it has been an honor to share this year with her.

Graidy Blasi

Team 6-2 would like to present Graidy Blasi for May's Rider of the Month. The final theme for this year's ROTM is friendship. In the course of life, there may not be anything more important than the friendships we make. Fellowship is vital to the human experience. It is this connection that we make with others that helps us through tough times; it is the bond with our friends that helps us grow and mature as time moves us along; it is with our buddies with whom we share fall-off-our-chair laughs; and it is with our pals, whether cut from the same cloth or not, with whom we make indelible memories. Graidy has demonstrated since the beginning of the school year that he possesses the qualities of a good friend. A genuine friend is reliable and trustworthy. A true friend is someone that will be there ready to lend an ear (both of 'em, if needed) along with a considerate word or two. Based on what we've observed over the past ten months, Graidy is the galactic center around which his friends revolve. We've concluded that these bonds of "buddyship" not only remained constant but have seemingly strengthened over time. This only happens with someone that burns bright with the spirit of companionship. Mr. Graidy Blasi is the embodiment of a good and true friend, and it is for these reasons that we have recognized this young man for May's ROTM.
